Arrests in Burma

Rouse Bitterness

RANGOON, Dec. 26 — (Associated Press Mail)—The arrest of five Burma Nationalist leaders here just before the arrival of the Prince of Wales and their removal to northern Burma for internment caused considerable excitement and intense bitterness among the Burmese Nationalists.

Among those arrested were U. Chit Hsang, president of the General Council of Burmese Associations and U. Ba Hsang, editor of New Burma, one of the leading Nationalist newspapers published in Rangoon.

In setting forth the reasons for their internment, Lieutenant Governor Sir R. H. Craddock, declared in an address before the Burma Legislative Council, that there was in Burma a small political clique animated by race hatred and by a desire to subvert the authority of the government and take the results of power into their own hands. These men, he said, were using every means, fair and foul, to make the prince's visit a failure.

Summing up the political situation in Burma, he declared that this clique had first, a year ago, sought the same constitutional reforms that had been given to the provinces of India but that when they saw that this was likely to be granted, they had made it clear that what they really wanted, or professed to want, was home rule outside the British Empire.

Having captured the political machine, he asserted, these men were endeavoring to tyrannize over the people of Burma by use of the boycott.

"They are careful to pay a lip-worship on every possible occasion to the so-called doctrine of non-violence," the Lieutenant Governor said. "They are far too solicitous of their own safety to induce in any violence but they care nothing that their preachings and intimidations must inevitably lead to the use of violence by their dupes."

Children's Night at Hip Every Friday Is Plan of Management

Friday night as Children's Night is the plan that Manager Dick Harris of Maui Amusement Company is working out for the Hippodrome. It is his purpose to put it into operation on February 24 for the first time when he is offering free admission to the children who bring in essays telling what sort of picture they like best and why.

After five days of school and with no lessons to be prepared of necessity that night since a school holiday follows, there is no night of the week better suited for a children's night than Friday. Parents can let the youngsters go out for an evening of amusement confident that it will not interfere with school work and they can sleep later Saturday morning after such an evening of recreation.

One reason for the Essay Contest that Manager Harris started was to gain all the knowledge possible as to the picture children like best so as to make the Friday night program more attractive to them. They will tell him what they like and so far as possible he will give them what they ask for.

Last year there was an effort made to popularize a Children's night but along different lines from what Manager Harris plans. Then it was undertaken to give the youngsters what grown folk thought they should have. The present plan is to give them what they decide for themselves that they like best.

White Australia Is One of Objectives Of the Labor Party

SYDNEY, N. S. W., Jan. 3—(Associated Press Mail)—Socialization of industry; maintenance of a "white Australia" and the abolition of the state legislative councils, the state governors and the senate, are included among the objectives of the Australian Labor party, as set forth in the revised platform and constitution formulated in conformity with the decision of the recent interstate conference of the party and made public today.

The objectives are listed as: "The socialization of industry, production, distribution and exchange, to be effected through the constitutional utilization of industrial and parliamentary machinery, through the organization of workers along the lines of industry; the nationalization of banking and all principal industries; the municipalization of such services as can be operated best in limited areas, government of nationalized industries by boards upon which the workers in the industry and the community shall have representation; the establishment of an elective supreme council by all nationalized industries; the establishment of labor research and labor information bureaus and educational institutions in which the workers shall be trained in the management of nationalized industries."

The platform also includes the "cultivation of an Australian sentiment and the development in Australia of an enlightened and self-reliant community. Complete Australian self-government as a British community is favored, but opposition is expressed to imperial federation. Unlimited legislative powers are proposed for the commonwealth parliament, with such delegated powers to the states or provinces as the commonwealth parliament may determine. All incomes from personal exertion up to £200 should be exempt from income tax, with a further reduction from the taxable income of £100 for a married person and £60 for each child or other person wholly dependent upon the taxpayer for support, the platform provided.

Paris Adopts Gotham System For Safety

PARIS, Jan. 9—(Associated Press Mail)—Four hundred persons were killed in Paris streets by automobiles or horse-drawn vehicles, tramways and other means of locomotion in 1921.

The problem of street traffic has been the subject of many investigations and numerous reports and recommendations have been made to Prefect of Police Leullier. Some time ago "red bands" about six feet wide were painted across the streets at the intersections of the busiest corners of the city, policemen were stationed at these points to motion automobiles to slow up and pedestrians crossing the streets on the "red band" were supposed to be in absolute safety.

Pedestrians, however, seemed to think it was below their dignity to walk the "red band" and now they have been abandoned for "zones of safety." The latter will consist of adopting the system in vogue in New York at the busiest corners along Broadway or Fifth Avenue. Parisian chauffeurs, however, show little regard for the policemen waving the white baton and continually "run past signals" in a way that would bring them before a New York magistrate to be fined in Paris it brings nothing but good natured banter generally directed against the policeman from pedestrians who may be run over at the next corner.

Former Minister of Justice Nail, of the Clemenceau cabinet, Viscountess de Rohan-Chabot and Countess de Wignacourt were the most prominent persons who were run down and killed by automobiles in the past year.

Improved Service For Soda Fountain

To have charge of its soda fountain service Maui Drug Company has secured the services of Frank Clark and brought him from the mainland. He comes with the reputation of being an expert in that department and it is the purpose of the "Home of Service" to give to Maui patrons the same sort of service of refreshments that is offered by the best establishments in mainland cities.

Numerous changes have been made in the store of the company since the installation of the new fountain and others will soon be made. The window at the side of the soda fountain has been transformed into a cigar counter opening on the street and the cigar case moved from the center of the store at the entrance giving considerable more floor space. The jewelry department is removed and replaced by the camera department and there has been a general rearrangement which has much improved the interior appearance.

Soon the tables that have been in use in the store will be replaced with white ones and the chairs at the tables will be replaced with ones that will be found more comfortable.

New Zealand Needs Representative in U. S.

SYDNEY, N. S. W., Jan. 3—(Associated Press Mail)—Some sort of representation should be maintained by New Zealand in the United States, according to the opinion of Mark Sheldon, who is retiring from the position of Australian Commissioner in the United States, and arrived here today.

"New Zealand could attract enormous tourist traffic, especially from the eastern United States," he said pointing out that he had received numerous inquiries concerning Australia and New Zealand.

Such commercial representation be a great commercial asset, and would aid in the disposal of New Zealand butter, for instance, he said.
